To Whom It May Concern:

RE: FOUR CORNERS EMIGRATION

Over the last number of years Postilion (a subsidiary of S1 Corporation) made extensive use of the services of Four Corners Emigration.

Our relationship started in 2000 when we established the company's Asia-Pacific headquarters in Melbourne which required the relocation of staff and their families from South Africa to Australia. Matthew Garvey and his team were able to offer us excellent advice and find solutions to our situation. More importantly, they were also able to provide support both in Australia and South Africa.

Based on this positive experience, Four Corners became our sole provider of emigration services for Australia and since then we have used their services extensively, not only for South African relocations, but also for relocations from the UK.

In closing, Four Corners provides extremely professional and efficient service which allows one to get on with business and ensures the smooth transition of employees and their families. I cannot recommend them highly enough.

Please feel free to make contact with me if you have any questions or require additional information.

Yours truly,

FRANCOIS VAN SCHOOR
General Manager & Senior Vice-President
